

Postdoctoral Fellow Position in Transportation Engineering

Monika Filipovska, Ph.D., University of Connecticut

A position for a postdoctoral fellow is available in the broad area of transportation systems, in the research group of Dr. Monika Filipovska. Candidates with research experience in the following areas are encouraged to apply: (1) emerging transportation technologies and intelligent transportation systems, (2) shared-use autonomous mobility services (including mobility-on-demand and mobility-as-a-service), (3) data analytics with applications to problems in transportation systems.

The postdoctoral fellow will be expected to be involved in research efforts in at least one of the following: network modeling, optimization, control, traffic simulation, transportation data analytics, etc. Duties will include conducting original research, dissemination of research findings, mentoring students, managing projects, and participating in collaborative research or proposal efforts. The position is open immediately for an initial appointment for one year, with the possibility for renewal.

Candidates should have a Ph.D. in transportation engineering or a closely related field such as operations research, industrial engineering, systems engineering, control, machine learning, data analytics, with research experience in transportation.

Interested candidates can apply via email by sending (1) a cover letter, (2) a CV, (3) contact information of 2-3 references, and (4) 1-2 writing samples (e.g., published or submitted manuscripts) to Dr. Monika Filipovska (monika.fil@uconn.edu). Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.
